2 Degrees Launched at Stevenson College Edinburgh

On 14 June 2010 Stevenson College Edinburgh will be celebrating the launch of its first degree-level courses. The College will introduce two degree courses in the Faculty of Creative Industries, in Music and Photography. The event is being held in the Music Box Auditorium at Stevenson and will be an evening of celebration.

The introduction of the BA (Hons) Music Performance and BA Photography means that, for the first time, Stevenson College is able to extend the range of qualifications and opportunities available to our creative industries' students. Both degrees are offered in conjunction with the University of Abertay Dundee.

The evening will showcase the College's talented music students as well as the work of our award winning photography students.

Morag Campbell, Associate Principal of the Creative Industries, commented on the forthcoming launch:

"We are all delighted to announce our new degree programmes this year, which will benefit our creative industries' students immensely. It will enable our students to scale up to degree level study and continue their education within the familiar, supported environment of the College.”

Calum Gray, 25, currently finishing his HND in Music Performance has already enrolled on the new Degree in Music Performance course.

“I am nearly towards the end of my HND now and have had so many great opportunities through studying here, including the experience of gigging, playing with like minded people in bands and travelling to Vilnius to play at the famous Jazz Festival. I am really pleased to be able to study for my degree here and look forward to achieving my degree at Stevenson College Edinburgh.”
